

Miyama / Eiheiji Temple

Fukui Countryside Walk

Miyama

This area's bountiful nature includes beautiful mountains and babbling brooks. It is a place where you can get a firsthand feel for seasonal changes, and experience the wonder of nature in the Fukui countryside. Temples standing silently among peaceful groves of trees calm and soothe the soul. Local activities that include walking in the woods, other outdoor activities and soba-making make this a great place to visit.

●Access to Mirakuru-tei:

From Fukui I.C. take National Route 158 eastward for about 10 min.

●Access to Ijira-kan:

From Fukui I.C. take National Route 158 eastward and turn onto National Route 476. (About 25 min.)

●Access to Eiheiji Temple:

From Fukui-kita I.C. take National Route 416 eastward for about 20 min.

From Fukui IC take National Route 158 eastward, and then National Route 364 northward. (About 20 min.)

Shotokuji Temple

L-10 Wide-area map

A venerable temple of the Shinshu Takada sect of Echizen. It houses prefectural cultural assets such as a statue of Prince Shotoku said to have been made by himself, and a "folding screen depicting a white elephant and children playing together". 0776・93・2251

Eiheiji Temple

J-5 Wide-area map

The head temple of the Soto sect, founded about 750 years ago by Dogen Zenji. Monks train in the seven main buildings and the more than 70 halls. 0776・63・3102

Miyama Choju Soba Dojo Gottsuosan-tei

Here you can learn the art of soba-making from a local expert. There is also a restaurant where you can taste the freshly made soba.

0776・90・1144

K-7 Wide-area map

Echizen soba with grated daikon radish

This dish consists of al dente buckwheat noodles topped with grated, hot daikon radish. The city has many famous soba restaurants that offer these simple, yet flavorful noodles, which are attracting attention as a macrobiotic dish.

Sweetfish sushi

Sweetfish are bountiful in areas with clear streams. The aroma of vinegared rice, ginger and sweetfish is irresistible. Sold only from July to September. 0776・96・4008(Sajidaira)

